POLITICAL PARADE

By CLEM WHITAKER

Senator Jerrold L. Seawell of Roseville, president pro-tem of the State Senate, has been picked to head up the Wendell Willkie ticket at California's presidential primary next May, if Governor Earl Warren turns down top spot in the Willkie slate.

Former Governors C. C. Young and Frank F. Merriam also will lend their names and influence to the Willkie drive to capture the California delegation to the Republican National Convention.

And Mr. Willkie has definitely decided to ask a slate pledged to his candidacy in this state, unless Governor Warren becomes an open and avowed candidate for President.

That three-pronged, semi-official announcement from the Willkie camp may serve to bring into the open a sizzling behind-the-scenes battle which is raging in GOP circles between groups favoring Mr. Willkie and other groups favoring Governor Warren or an uninstructed delegation.

At the present time, according to the best information available to this writer, there is a Republican bloc of considerable strength which is determined to place a ticket on the California ballot nominally pledged to Governor Warren for President—but without any outright avowal by Warren of his candidacy. This, they contend, can be legally done, if Mr. Warren does not disavow the ticket. It is reported that this group has secured an interpretation of the new election law from the Secretary of State's office to the effect that the candidate (Mr. Warren) need not specifically approve the placing of a ticket on the ballot in his behalf, but need only remain silent on the matter.

Willkie forces, on the other hand, insist this is a trick and a device to circumvent the intent of the Legislature—and is designed to send an uninstructed delegation to the Republican Convention which might later be turned over to Governor Dewey of New York or some other candidate. The Willkie stalwarts further insist that while they are eager and anxious to avoid a split in the Republican Party that they won't stand for an uninstructed delegation, or a delegation pledged to a candidate who hasn't made public announcement of his candidacy.

"If Governor Warren publicly approves of placing a ticket on the ballot pledged to his candidacy for President," said one of the major Willkie lieutenants, "that, I am sure, would have an effect on Mr. Willkie's present intention to run in this state. But if a Warren ticket is filed without Mr. Warren's public approval, then the fat's on the fire—and Mr. Willkie will

Woman's Club Holds Interesting Meeting Monday

The Country Woman's club met Monday afternoon, Oct. 18 for the second time this month, opening the business session, conducted by the president, Mrs. W. H. Van Dyke, with a patriotic preamble.

The business meeting was devoted, primarily, to discussion of war activities and the current War Chest campaign. The standing committee for Red Cross was enlarged by the appointment of Mrs. Ira H. Grim and Mrs. Charles B. Reynolds.

The program which followed was under the direction of Mrs. Bertha Barron, chairman of the day, who introduced as the first number, Mrs. Harry Rich who sang "In the Garden of Tomorrow" by Deppen; a request number "All For You" by Brown, and "Vilia" from the Merry Widow by Victor Herbert. Mrs. David Sanders was at the piano.

Richard O. Gordon then presented a string trio from the grammar school orchestra consisting of Patricia Pomeroy, violin; Marilyn Booker, cello; and Lorraine Wood, piano, who rendered two folk songs, one German and the other Sicilian.

Lieut. (j. g.) Reineman of the WAVES, working from the local recruiting office in San Jose, made a plea for assistance in interesting young women in the opportunities presented by the Navy, stating that 60,000 more women are needed to release men from shore duty for the fighting forces. They receive the

Plymouth Forum Meets Sunday

Jefferson Beaver will be the speaker at the meeting of the Plymouth Forum at the Congregational church this Sunday evening at 6:30.

Beaver is a director of the Buchanan street Negro USO hut in San Francisco and will have a very interesting topic which will be discussed at the next Sunday meeting.

The Plymouth Forum is run entirely by students and all students are welcome and no other church ties are concerned.

Very good attendance marked the initial meeting, with about 150 hearing the talk on Czechoslovakia. It is hoped that an equally good crowd will be able to hear Jefferson Beaver.

file, too!"

So that's that—and unless one side or the other gives ground, the Republican Party may engage in an old-fashioned brannigan like their hated rivals, the Democrats, used to put on in the pre-Roosevelt era. And the Democrats, incidentally, are cheering the boys on!

Organizations Asked to Contribute to Xmas Fund

To be sure that the service men in this area (San Jose, Campbell, Sunnyvale, and Santa Clara) have at least one Christmas present, the Red Cross has asked all organizations to contribute what they feel they can toward a fund for these gifts. Each organization may enclose a card in its packages so that they will not lose their identity. The Red Cross in no way wishes to be the main part of this. Its field representatives will be responsible for the distribution of the packages at Christmas and this will be the only part they will play.

Sameness is stressed in all packages so that one organization able to do more than another will not favor a small group of soldiers. There are many posts that are unfamiliar, these boys in out of way places are the ones most likely to be neglected during the holidays. The boys in the hospitals are also in need of some extra thought.

Each package will include such articles as toothpaste, comb, envelopes, paper, candy bar, cigarettes and a pocket novel. Wholesale cost of this package is seventy-five cents. Each article will be wrapped separately and in turn be put in one large package and wrapped as a gift.

To use the donations to the best advantage the Red Cross has offered its buying power to purchase the above mentioned articles. Checks may be made out to "The Camp and Hospital Fund" and turned into your organization's president who in turn may give them to Mrs. Paul Becker. After these articles are purchased they will be centered in at the Red Cross where any organization may donate one day to go in and help wrap them. This, however, is not too necessary but would be appreciated.

This area's quota is over 2,000 packages. These packages will be used for the service men stationed in this area, not sent to other communities. Last year so many organizations gladly sent packages to camps but without any definite plan that many boys received one or more presents while others in the same camp received none. It is hoped this will not be the case this year.

The Kiwanis club and Ada Rebekah lodge were the first organizations to contribute generously.

GIVE TO THE CHESTS

A new weapon of war has been devised, produced, and perfected, and now has been placed in the hands of the American public to operate.

This new instrument of war is the National War Fund, which combines 17 great national war causes in one tremendous campaign. Our local war chest drive is part of this nation-wide effort to support the USO, services to war prisoners and the merchant marine, and the organizations which provide relief for our beleaguered allies. And along with the war chest is the local community chest drive, funds from which are used for local organizations and relief.

It is a potent weapon. It will fight alongside our sons and brothers who are spilling their blood on the far-flung battle fronts of the world. It will fight with the war-scarred Russians and Chinese, with our British brothers in arms, with the starved, oppressed peoples whose spirits cannot be crushed by the heel of the Jap or the Nazi. And it will guard our home front against disease and delinquency, fend off the weaknesses to which any nation at war is subject.

Our security today we owe to the men who are fighting our battles, fighting for our homes, our families. The future of every American hangs on the victories these men achieve, the defeats they suffer. It becomes our solemn duty to do everything in our power to help them win this struggle.

Support of this all-inclusive campaign is a privilege open to all Americans. Solicitors for the local Community and War Chest Drive started working Monday. They will call at your home—so be ready with the best contribution you can possibly make.

TRAVELING SENATORS

The "Rover Boys"—the name given the five Senators who recently completed a world-wide tour—have been getting a hot reception from all sides since they made their not-so-secret report to the Senate on what they observed in their travels.

Comment from the White House, from London, and from their fellow senators has not been exactly complimentary. It seems that the quintet got off on the wrong foot by reporting things which they had not checked as to their accuracy. They also made the mistake of "reporting" what was merely conjecture or opinion.

For instance, Senator Lodge's declaration that one million American lives could be saved if Russia granted us bases on Siberia for an attack against Japan. If the Senator had given this matter due thought he would realize that such a move by Russia would plunge her into war with Japan. At first glance this might appear desirable from our standpoint. However, the Soviet armies are doing a grand job in Europe against Hitler's forces—much to our advantage. If Russia had to fight large-scale action in Asia as well, her efforts against Germany would suffer accordingly.

As to the charges that lend-lease supplies are not being properly used by Britain, and that we will lose all interest in airfields built around the world with our money, once the war is over, these matters should be cleared up. If the charges are incorrect, this should be made clear to the American public. If they are true a definite understanding with our allies should be reached immediately on these matters.

If one or the other of these courses is not taken, misunderstanding and bitterness will spring up between ourselves and the other United Nations, thereby not only impeding the war effort, but endangering the whole basis of peace in the post-war world.

THE FEAR OF PEACE

Beyond doubt, the one thing the subjugated peoples of Europe most desire is peace.

Yet, on the occasions when peace has seemed suddenly near—as it did temporarily when Italy collapsed—a strange fear has swept over them. This is especially true of the little nations which extend from the Baltic through the Balkans.

At first glance this appears paradoxical. And yet, it isn't. To them war is horrible, but peace also has its grave aspects. To them, peace does not bring an end to conflict. In fact, the conflict hasn't stopped in centuries, for these small nations are the chips in Europe's eternal poker game.

The post-war problems of Norway, Holland and Belgium will be great, but these problems will be almost entirely economic. With the Baltic and Balkan states economic difficulties will be but one of many problems.

Of paramount importance will be the question: Who will get what? What will be the status of the three little Baltic nations of Lithuania, Latvia, and Estonia? How will Poland emerge on the post-war map? Who will get Transylvania? Can Yugoslavia reconcile the sharp differences between her various groups and resume her status as one nation?

These are the chronic ailments that will again plague these nations once the violence of war is past. In view of this, the "fear of peace" is somewhat understandable.

THE MISSING GIZZARD

This story might be entitled, "The Mystery of the Missing Gizzard," or "Look Before You Leap."

It all began when a customer reported to the OPA that a retail dealer had sold her a chicken which—of all things—didn't have the gizzard in it.

Swiftly the OPA machinery began to clank in pursuit of justice. The retailer was summoned to answer the complaint. In due course, he stood, hat in hand, before the august OPA board.

Astute OPA attorneys began questioning. Yes, he had sold the chicken. No, he didn't know what had become of the gizzard. How had the chicken been sold? According to weight. Then since the gizzard was not in the chicken the sale price was just that much less than it would have been otherwise? Correct. The decision: No violation of the law. Case dismissed.

The dealer put on his hat and went back to his store—at least half a day wasted.

The moral of the story is: It's all right to report price violations when you're sure—but be sure first. You'll save everybody's time.

We'll bet that chicken didn't know how important her gizzard was.

SAN QUENTIN BOMBER

Prisoners from San Quentin who have been clamoring for permission to fight the Nazis and Japs in the armed forces are doing the next best thing. If they can't be present on the battlefields in person, they will be there in spirit.

Handed a war bond goal of $9,921, out of a national quota for $300,000 set for all penal institutions in the United States, San Quentin prisoners over-subscribed by more than 1,000 per cent! And as a result theirs was the honor of naming the bomber purchased with the complete national prison subscription.

The name preferred by the prison inmates for the bomber is "Bad Check" for the seemingly good and sufficient reason that "it always comes back." The selection shows that the boys at San Quentin not only have a sense of humor but a bit of philosophy, too.

When the "Bad Check" soars over the battlefields, bringing retribution and destruction to the enemy, it will carry with it the blessing of those who, among all men, best know the value of liberty and the sweetness of freedom.

Sick Cattle

A serious disease known as bovine coccidiosis may be prevented from "scuttling" part of wartime food output if cattle owners will follow practices of cleanliness and segregation in caring for their animals. Isolating young calves in individual box stalls is the surest way to prevent the disease, experts say. Manure and contaminated bedding should be removed daily. After six weeks in isolation, calves may be allowed to run in a large feed lot with others of approximately the same age.

THE BOOK MARK

by marty

"Journey Into America" by Donald Culross Peattie.

"You can't tell a man about a country unless you make him know its heroes, its bloodied glory of place-names, its stories that are true legend." Thus wrote the author in a letter to an acquaintance of German birth who had never seen America except through the voice and activities of visitors to the French Riviera.

With this letter as his introduction to the book, the author proceeds to tell us about our country, its heroes, and its battles with stories that are "true legend." With his genius for re-creating the past, Peattie puts life into the men and the moments that have made us what we are today. We hear the Liberty Bell ring joyfully for the surrender of Cornwallis and muffled for the death of Washington. Tom Paine we see as he peers across the frozen Delaware on the night before Trenton and come better to understand "The Rights of Man."

Few, very few, writers have ever attained the perfection in word pictures as has Mr. Peattie. His handling of few words to express a thought is art.

This book is small but packed full of force—force in beauty of expression—force in simplicity of thought and theme. Pride of our country welled up in my heart with each line, bringing home to me the true values of our free treasures.

In this volume of American history lies truth in legend, making this book an object of permanent value to each American library. It is such publications as this one that bring to life the apparent dormant patriotism in some of us.

It will not take you long to read this book and it is more than worth your time.

The highway patrol officers who later investigated, lodged a complaint against the driver of the car who was located after a lengthy chase by another car which he had side-swiped before hitting the bicycle, and the case is in the hands of the juvenile court.

Newspaper Men Met Tuesday

Newspaper men of the county assembled at the De-Anza hotel Tuesday evening were presented with the possibilities of post-war development here, increasing the number of industries, and homes with consequent advanced pay rolls and many new families.

Some time ago a fund of $55,000 was established jointly by the county and city of San Jose to advertise this area and promote its industrial growth.

Russell Pettit, manager of the San Jose chamber of commerce, described plans for its use, and a like sum to be raised each year to finance a continuing program of promotion for the valley.

Every industry brought to this county will be a benefit to all its residents no matter where the business is located, Pettit reported.

The newspapers of the county will endeavor to interest each community to get behind the effort.

Many inquiries are being received even now, as the result of the many thousands of letters and cards sent out by service men who are or have been stationed here.

R. H. Knappen represented the Campbell Press at the meeting.

Harvest Home Festival Is Success

The Harvest Home Festival held annually by the Garden Forum, this year in the San Jose Woman's club house, was a real success in the variety and quality of exhibits and in the inspiring talk by Mrs. Sanborn Young (Ruth Comfort Mitchell) of Los Gatos.

Mrs. Bertha Rice of Saratoga, sister of Mrs. J. B. Collins and Ben Davison of Campbell, and herself at one time a resident here, the manager of the Forum, conducted Saturday's event under a serious handicap.

On Thursday, Oct. 7, she made a hurried visit to the club house, going in through the patio, where a dog, belonging to the caretakers, busy with a bone, previously friendly with her, suddenly attacked her, severely lacerating her leg.

She was given emergency treatment and anti-tetanus shots and has been under the care of Dr. Mark Hopkins and the animal was impounded for observation.

As some confusion and minor difficulties in arranging tables occurred at the luncheon, Mrs. Rice felt that she should offer this explanation, although she had kept the report of the accident from the public.

PRESS STARTS NEW YEAR

The Campbell Press enters upon another year of its history with this issue, Volume 44, No. 1. However, this does not truly mark the real age of the publication as the earliest files of the paper are non-existent, although it was published in varied forms prior to the beginning of its present volume numbering.

In a volume published by "Ghost Town News," Buena Park, Calif., entitled California Business Roll of Honor, which lists 711 business establishments, all of which have been in business fifty years or longer, the name of the Campbell Press appears.

Great indeed have been the changes in Campbell since the first paper, The Campbell Visitor, began recording the happenings of the little community with its one room school house, few stores and few houses surrounded with grain fields and a few orchards.

Now it has grown until Campbell is the largest unincorporated community in California and that should be the next step in advance—a project which has been advocated through the columns of this paper almost ever since 1912 when it was purchased by the late Harry C. Smith.

Third War Loan Final Record

The final tabulation of returns for the Third War Loan for the Campbell area have been completed and is as follows:

Series	No. Bonds	Am't
F	22	29,988.50
G	41	54,350.00
7-8	1	3,340.00
	1461	$159,052.25

The quota set for this district of $180,000 was valiantly striven for, but as these quotas were set by population and so many of the wage earners living here, work in other places where their purchases were made, the quota was not attained, but the campaign managers, William N. Lloyd and Willard H. Van Dyke were appreciative of the results, and extend their thanks to all workers and subscribers.

Doris Smith Is Bride of Naval Flier

Of midnight blue velvet was the princess frock worn by Miss Doris Jeanne Smith Saturday evening, Oct. 9, when she became the bride of Lieut. Phillip H. Horne before the altar of the First Baptist church in Modesto.

Her veiled hat was of the same blue shade and she carried a white Bible marked with a white orchid and bouvardia knotted streamers.

Rev. Elmer A. Junker officiated at the 8 o'clock service and Lieut. Donald D. Kelly gave the bride away. Attending the couple were Mrs. Clarence Schumaker, the bride's sister, the former Evelyn Smith, and Lieut. Royal V. Dickason.

The matron of honor was attired in a black and white ensemble and wore a corsage of yellow rosebuds.

Preceding the ceremony, Mrs. Kelly sang "Because," accompanied at the organ by Mrs. Reil Cochran.

Coral and white gladioli were used on the bride's table at the reception held in the Schumaker home. A tiered wedding cake topped by an officer and bride was cut by the bridal couple.

Mrs. Horne is the daughter of Mrs. Walter B. Smith of Campbell. She was graduated from the Campbell Union High school and the St. Mary's School of Nursing in San Francisco.

The benedict, son of Mrs. Margaret Horne of Mora, Minn., was graduated from Augsburg college in Minneapolis. He is an officer in the naval air corps.

same salary and rating as men and are enlisted for the duration and six months.

Dr. William Poytress of the San Jose State college faculty was the speaker of the afternoon, taking as his topic "The Present Day Economic Situation." During his interesting and highly informative address he brought out very forcibly the effects of war on the economic, social and political life of the nation, stating that with huge sums being spent to conduct the war and a probable deficit of seventy-five billions when the war is over the post-war problems will be terrible. "But," said Dr. Poytress, "the final task of actually winning the war will be up to the United States and the enemy knows it."

Members of the committee in charge, who had the hall beautifully decorated in fall flowers from the gardens of Robert Scholz were Mesdames Bertha Barron, G. S. Robson, L. A. Saunders, J. B. Collins, C. N. Grizzle and Miss Winnie Grizzle.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES From Campus Echo

Coach Hill's Boys Click With "T"

The Campbell Bucs, using the Shaughnessy "T" formation, played a scoreless tie with Los Gatos Friday. This was the first time the "T" has been used by Campbell for several years, and it proved very deceptive. Bill Courtney was the captain of the game.

The Bucs gave Los Gatos a good scare by picking up more than 40 yards in the three opening plays.

Rambling George Del Grande, able quarterback, was partly responsible for this gain, but was injured and went out of the game after the third play. This hurt the offensive spirit of the team, because the quarterback is the spark plug of a team using the "T" formation. D. Skaggs really took care of his end of the line.

The starting line-up was as follows: Howe, center; Skaggs and O'steen, tackles; Courtney and Malvini, guards; Wilson and Kennedy, ends; Del Grande, quarterback; Zimmer and Caruso, halfbacks and Magnuson.

The statistics were about even, Los Gatos came within 12 yards of pay dirt but their men were persuaded by the Bucs to go back to mid field. Campbell has a small squad this year, but has more determination and fighting spirit than ever. The game that counts will be played Nov. 19 at Los Gatos. Coach Hill tried to give as much experience as possible to the new players; so many newcomers were seen on the field.

Mt. View Next On Buc's Schedule

With the Los Gatos game under their belts, local gridmen have all eyes and ears turned to the coming game with Mt. View here at Campbell Friday afternoon.

Mountain View usually fields a strong team, but Coach Hill is confident that with the fight and courage shown here with the Cats, victory is a strong possibility. However, Mountain View played a scoreless tie with Palo Alto, which shows she will be no pushover. They, too, are using the "T" formation; which should make the game interesting.

Campbell will be sparked by the return of Cyril Barbaccia, who will probably play center and by Chet Linden, a newcomer at full-back.

Installation Held On October 12

Bill Smith, moving into the presidency from the vice-presidency, because of the departure of Chuck Pettis, today took charge of the assembly at which he and other new student body officers were installed.

In the course of business, council vice-president, Bill Page; secretary, Liz Peterson and other council members, Bob Magnuson, Larry Cowper, Al McQueen and Chet Linden were introduced. Also introduced was Stan Ekstrand, student manager, who in turn introduced the commissioners who briefly mentioned their duties.

Commissioners introduced were as follows: finance, Elwood De Vilbiss; supply, Charles Cothran; art, Raymond Flagg; drama, Dennis Bushnell; records, Helen Murphy; social affairs, Jim Kennedy; literary affairs, Celiabel Pettis; school affairs, Jean Lester; boys' athletics, Bill Gaylord; scholarship, Alice Jensen; awards, Floyd Williamson. Commissioners not present were journalism, Beverly Baird; music, Dorothy Arnold; girls' athletics, Ardith Richardson. Principal W. H. Van Dyke installed the new officers.

Highlight of the meeting was the group of popular accoridian numbers played by Danny O'Neill.

Council Appoints Scrap Chairman

Now that the council is fully organized, it is starting to work on several projects.

First big thing to claim the students' attention will be the scrap drive. Al McQueen has been appointed to head it, and work on it will begin right away.

Also under consideration is a plan to organize the freshman and sophomore classes in the same way the juniors and seniors are. Larry Cowper is working on the matter with W. H. Van Dyke.

The student court question is up again, and the council is expected to take action on it very soon.

Look for more council news next issue.

H. S. CADETS LIKE SOLDIER TRAINING

"The leaders take to it like ducks to water," said Coach Walter Hill yesterday as he discussed the work of Campbell's military trainees, now officially known as "California High School Cadets."

Coach Hill holds the rank of second lieutenant and assistant commandant of cadets, junior grade. He has not yet made announcement of the student officers.

Just as in regular military training, the boys are to be provided with regulation drill rifles, slings, target rifles, and ammunition. Principal W. H. Van Dyke expressed the hope that this equipment will be here soon.

Girls' League Party Provides Fun for Many

The noise that filled the gym Thursday was caused by the Big and Little Sister party, which started in a "mad scramble," with big and little sisters finding each other.

Entertainment was arranged by the vice-president of the Girls' League, Beatrice Hohman. On the program were Beverly Parker and Betty Parsons, who sang a duet; Marceline Benech, a piano solo; Eva Benevento, two vocal numbers; Reba Fryar, vocal rendition of "Stormy Weather;" Carmela Gemette, three vocal numbers; and a vocal trio, Pat Ratcliff, Nora Lynch and Phyllis Logan, who sang "Pistol Packing Mama."

TRAFFIC PATROL IS NOW AT WORK

Campbell Hi's traffic patrol is now on duty with Frank Dardanelli acting as commissioner. Captain of the squad is Jack Farnham; lieutenants are Nathan Dardanelli and Anthony Vicari.

Other officers who have signed up and are already on the job are Bob Loveday, Ernest Ray, Jim Beth, Gene Arnold, Harold Stone, Bill Smitherum and John Kelly.

The boys perform many services including traffic direction at Winchester road and Campbell avenue at all times when students are entering or leaving school, keeping order at dances, and ushering at football games. Instructor Ralph Noddin is adviser.

DERK JOHNSON IS C. S. F. PRESIDENT

The California Scholarship Federation met for the first time this semester on Oct. 8. The purpose of the meeting was the election of officers for the fall term. Derk Johnson was elected president; Diana Mussat, vice-president; and Doris Raggio, secretary.

At present there are ten members of the society including seniors, Bernice Bernardacci, Bill Page, Jack Farnham and Alice Jensen; juniors, Beverly Baird, Alvin Bonds and Joyce Locken; sophomores, Derk Johnson, Diana Mussat, Doris Raggio.

Miss Mary Lewis is the new adviser of the group, replacing Miss Eunice Reader.

Principal Attends Two Conventions

W. H. Van Dyke, principal of Campbell high school, took a leave from his regular duties last week to attend a superintendents' convention in San Francisco.

Meetings were held in the civic auditorium and were attended by heads of schools from all over the state.

After that session closed the principal was off to another convention, this time a Kiwanis convention in Santa Cruz, where he

Shakespeare Plays At Geary Theatre

John Carradine and his Shakespeare Players will open a two week engagement at the Geary Theater in three of Shakespeare's most colorful dramas on Sunday night, Oct. 24, at 8:00 o'clock.

One of the most exciting things about Shakespeare's plays is the realization that every performance introduces his literature in flesh and blood to a new group of theater-goers; those who have studied him in school; who know him only by the printed page; those of all ages who for the first time laugh and love and weep with him and see the pageantry and color with which he peoples his stage.

John Carradine is well prepared by a brilliant reputation in playing Shakespeare. His direction is modern but loses none of the traditional beauty of the originals; and the settings are the John Barrymore settings designed by Robert Edmond Jones.

The schedule of performances at the Geary will be: Oct. 24, 25, 26, 27, 28, 29, "Hamlet," with the curtain at 8:00 sharp. On Oct. 30, 31, and Nov. 1, 2, 3, "The Merchant of Venice," and on Nov. 4, 5, 6, "Othello." Matinees will be presented on Oct. 30, with "The Merchant of Venice," and on Nov. 6, with "Othello."

Curtain time for "Merchant of Venice" and "Othello" will be at 8:30.

Brush off!

NOW IS THE TIME TO RID YOUR GAS HEATING EQUIPMENT OF DUST AND DIRT

For clean efficient heat this winter give fuzzy-wuzzy dust a good brush-off in your gas heating equipment. Dirt and fuzzy lint is drawn along the floor by air circulation into your floor furnace pit or the cold air returns of your central furnace. Remove floor grills and clean out this dust with brush and dustpan or use a vacuum cleaner attachment. If you have a forced-air furnace, oil the fan shaft and motor. Check the fan belt and see that it is not too loose. Replace your old filter pads if they are clogged with dust. Do this and you will get more heat for less gas usage. New filter pads are available without priority. Then, of course, be sure to have authorized gas heating repair dealer check up on your gas heating equipment at the first sign of trouble. Keep healthfully warm this winter but do not waste gas fuel.
